The Exposition has been an object lesson of incalculable benefits; of much that was imperfectly understood from readings we now have a correct appreciation, which could not have been gained without seeing. . . Permit us to draw a simile that concerns your comfort and appearance as well as your purse.

Many stores claim much for their Overcoats-mostly in price reductions, but experience has taught that any thing that is really desirable and new, seasonable and it demand, consistently need not be sold for less than its worth.

This store offers, in truth, the utmost in intrinsic worth as well as the finest workmanship that has been accomplished in Overcoat making. You may not appreciate this fact until you have seen them but seeing, you'll realize that there can be so great a differ ence. It will be an object les son of decided value to you.

Three laborers were instantly killed at 10:45 o'clock yesterday morning while working in a trench opposite the plant of the Progress Pressed Brick Company, a few feet south of the Oak Hill Railroad bridge, being buried beneath several tons of clay and macadam by a cave-in of a forty-foot strip of the west side wall of

The men, all Austrians, were employes of John MacMahon, a contractor, with of-fices at No. 617 Walnwright building, who has the contract for laying the water mains on King's highway from Arsenal street to Murdoch avenue.

Seven men were working in the trench at the time of the accident. Four escaped death by a very narrow margin because they were several feet from the point where the cave-in started, and had warning of their danger.

The trench is thirty-two inches wide and from eight to ten feet deep. The soil is moist clay topped with a layer of macadam, varying in depth from eighteen inches to two feet. In digging, the earth was thrown up on both sides to a height of three or four feet. The trench had not protect the workmen from possible caveins, it is said, and the weight of several hundred tons of loose clay on the edges caused the side walls to collapse.

The cave-in occurred without the slightest warning and buried the three laborers. The men who escaped gave the alarm and the work of rescuing the entombed men was begun immediately by laborers from other points along the trench, and from the brick yard near by. A fire alarm and riot call was turned in and was responded to by Hook and Ladder Company No. 10 and Engine Company No. 35, and by a detachment of police from the Seventh District under Sergeant O'Leary, all of whom joined in the rescue.

All were dead, and it is the theory of the police that the men were killed by the macadam, which crushed their heads and bodies with sufficient force to cause instant death. There was no evidence in the appearance of the men to indicate death by suffocation.

The laying of this water main is being done by the city through John MacMahon, who is a subcontractor. The work was in charge of Paul F. Cooney of No. 382 Page avenue, foreman for MacMahon.

As soon as the accident occurred all of the foreigners left their work and ran up King's highway, where they took cars for their homes and boarding-houses, being too badly scared to remain and assist in the rescue of their comrades.

They say that they have quit the job and will not return to work unless braces are piaced in the trench to protect them from the fate of their comrades.

The bodies were removed to the morgue, where an inquest will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Diamond Rings.

HEIMBURGER CALLED KILLED IN CAVE-IN BEFORE THE MAYOR

Building Commissioner, It Is Stated, Will Not Tender His Resignation.

Official Declares That Inquiry Would Clear Him, and Might Implicate Others-Both Refuse to Talk.

Although both refused to discuss the subject, it is understood that Mayor Wells called Building Commissioner Helmburger before him yesterday morning in regard to alleged irregularities and laxity in the latter's office. The conference, it is said, ended with Commissioner Helmburger refusing to hand in his resignation, which, according to reports, was requested by the Mayor.

The meeting in Mayor Wells's office yes terday morning was the first since the reports of irregularities were made public. Commissioner Heimburger departed on a hunting trip the day following the publication of the allegations and returned last Friday. He telephoned the Mayor's office Saturday was President's Day at the to consider the question.

The Mayor, it is said, has been displease with the delay on the addition to the Poorhouse and prison at the Workhouse, and has had Commissioner Heimburger before him, urging that the work must be expedited. He has been making a quiet investigation to see if charges preferred by himself were warranted.

vestigation to see it charges preteried by himself were warranted.

The request for the resignation, however, it is stated, did not hinge on the specific allegations relative to the Poorhouse and Workhouse, but more on laxity. The city has not been the worse off for any changes that might have been suggested in the Poorhouse and Workhouse specifications, for none of the substitutions were made. It is stated, however, that Commissioner Heimburger has not drawn a tight rein on his department, and as a result public works under his charge have dragged.

Friends of Commissioner Heimburger, it is said, advised strongly against his re-dragged.

Friends of Commissioner Heimburger, it is said, advised strongly against his resigning, and according to reports called upon the Mayor.

In holding out, Commissioner Heimburger, it is said, has said that he would call for an investigation before the Council, and that he was being judged unjustly. He intimates that an investigation would not only clear him, but might implicate others. However, what his views are he has refused to state since the meeting with the Mayor yesterday morning.

Should Commissioner Heimburger demand an investigation, as his friends any he will, the inner workings of the Building Department would he aired and any charges as to two sets of plans would be substantiated or disproved.

The contractors declare that they are anxious for a thorough investigation.

INCREASE IN RAILROAD EMPLOYES Estimated That More Than 200,0

With the rapid increase in railroad mile age throughout the Southwest in the last few years, the number of railroad employes has increased at the average rate of five to a mile.

The Southwest States have a mileage of 43,938 miles of railroad. Basing the num-ber of employes of five for each mile, the rallroad men in the Southwest would form large army of 215,098 men. The general average is five employes to each mile, but in certain sections of Texas it is not believed that this average will be reached. However, the average of five to a mile will be too small in many parts of Missouri and Kansas.

According to present indications the Southwest will continue this year, as for several years, to lead ell sections in the increase in milesage, and the railroad population will also increase, accordingly.

It is generally believed that within the next decade the Southwest will have far more railroad men among its citizens than any other section of the country. average is five employes to each mile, but

SUPREME COURT DECIDES AGAINST KANSAS CITY BANK.

Missourt Tribunal's Oninion as to the Collection of a Note Upheld by National Justices.

Washington, Nov. 28.-The Suprem Court of the United States to-day affirmed the opinion of the Supreme Court of the State of Missouri in the case of the Citzens' National Bank of Kansas City, vs. M S C Donnell, involving the question of the rate of interest on pr notes under the national banking law. The suit was brought by the bank to colect a note of $20,000, with interest at $ per cent, and was resisted on the groun that the principal represented in the notes represented not only the principal of the original note, which was for $15.00, but compounded interest on the first note, and compounded interest on the hist also interest charged on an overdraft, a new note having been made to include all these charges.

The Missouri court held that the bank must forfeit all interest since the making of the new note, and could collect only the original $15,000, and the decision to-day sustained that view.
